

MASTER LAYOUT & CHAPTER STANDARD

Trim Size: 6" x 9" | Imprint: Hexadigitall Academy | Author: FVMMD

To ensure the entire manuscript remains structurally uniform, beautifully balanced for Amazon KDP printing, and unswervingly intimate in its delivery, this template maps out every part of the book alongside a strict blueprint for how individual chapters must be broken down internally.

1. THE MASTER BOOK TREE

Every block in this structure is arranged sequentially to guide the reader from breaking their illusions down to building an unshakeable relationship operational system.

- FRONT MATTER

- Half Title Page (Minimalist text block)
- Title Page (Imprint & Author credits)
- Copyright Page (Legal & hexadigitall.com web anchor)
- Dedication Page (Centered italic verse)
- The Map of This Book (Simplified, intimate Table of Contents)
- A Letter to the Reader (Personal, heartfelt preface)

- THE CORE OPENING MOVEMENT

- Let's Talk Truth: Chasing a Lie (Introduction)

- PART 1: THE THINGS THAT DON'T BURN

- Chapter 1: Looking Past the Spark
- Chapter 2: No Secrets, No Shadows

- Chapter 3: Finding Our Rhythm Everyday
- PART 2: STACKING THE BLOCKS
 - Chapter 4: The Small, Boring Everyday Things
 - Chapter 5: How the Little Things Grow Heavy
 - Chapter 6: Fixing the Peeling Layers Together
- PART 3: KEEPING THE HOUSE STANDING
 - Chapter 7: Pausing to Check on Us
 - Chapter 8: Fixing the Cracks Early
 - Chapter 9: Growing Up Without Growing Apart
- END MATTER
 - A Final Note From the Porch (Warm conversational epilogue)
 - The People Behind the Build (Acknowledgments)
 - Hexadigitall Academy Resources (Operational companion frameworks)
 - About the Author (Grounded profile)

2. UNIFORM CHAPTER BLUEPRINT

Every single chapter across Part 1, Part 2, and Part 3 must follow this exact structural sequence to maintain visual harmony and keep the reading rhythm completely fluid and intimate:

COMPONENT 1: THE PERSONAL HOOK (PORCH STORY)

Length: 2 to 3 paragraphs. Text must be completely unindented on the opening line.

This is where you tell a simple, warm, real-world story. It shouldn't sound technical or analytical. It should feel like you're pulling up a chair next to the reader on a quiet porch, recalling a moment, a conversation, or an everyday observation that perfectly captures the human side of the problem we're solving in the chapter.

COMPONENT 2: THE CORE PARADIGM SHIFT (THE INVERSION)

Length: 3 to 4 paragraphs. Normal indents apply.

Here, you take that warm story and strip away the standard romance lens. This is where you introduce the engineering mindset in plain English. You show how the emotion failed in this specific scenario, and you map out exactly how looking at it through structural integrity or functional consistency changes everything.

COMPONENT 3: THE INFRASTRUCTURE SYSTEM STEPS

Length: 4 to 6 paragraphs. Can include bullet points or numbered mini-headers.

This is the tactical, intentional blueprint section of the chapter. You explicitly walk the reader through the dedicated maintenance strategies or the specific fire-resistant materials they need to use. You give them language, conversational checks, or habits that form the practical infrastructure of the partnership.

COMPONENT 4: THE CORE MAXIM QUOTE (VISUAL BREAK)

Length: 1 sharp, bold, isolated statement centered on the page.

"A house doesn't stay warm because it wants to be; it stays warm because the walls were built thick enough to trap the heat."

COMPONENT 5: THE INTIMATE REFLECTION (CLOSING OUT)

Length: 1 to 2 concluding paragraphs.

You bring the camera back close. You end the chapter with a direct, encouraging word to the reader—reminding them why this specific block or layer matters for their long-term peace, leaving them with an open, intuitive question to take back to their partner.